

Subscribe

Past Issues

Translate ▼

View this email in your browser

Monthly Newsletter: December 22, 2022, | Like what you see? Sign up here

WFSJ News

SubscribePast IssuesTranslate ▼

WSF 2022 in Cape Town The first hosted on the African continent

South Africa has created space for scientists to contribute to its foreign policy and ensure that science diplomacy features in the country's diplomatic relations.

More programme unveiled, travel grants and act now for early bird rates

Registration for WCSJ 2023 is now open, and you can take advantage of our early bird rates until 18 Jan 2023. More information and registration here.

The World Science Forum (WSF) 2022 – No Justice Without Knowledge

The WFSJ teamed up with SciDev.Net to host a panel at the World Science Forum in Cape Town on Wednesday last week (7 December).

Invitation to lush tropical nature: A note from Wolfgang Goede

SubscribePast IssuesTranslate ▼

Wengang Guo is former honorary secretary of the European Union of Science Journalists' Associations (EUSJA). He has attended all but one of the World Conferences of Science Journalists and is based in Medellín.

absw

ASSOCIATION OF BRITISH
SCIENCE WRITERS

Travel grant

The ABSW in the UK is offering five grants for travel, accommodation and subsistence whilst travelling, of up to £1000 each to members who would like to attend and benefit from attending the WCSJ 2023 in Medellín. For conditions and more information check the ABSW website. Entries should be submitted before 31 December.

World Health Organization

The WFSJ's Health Committee has embarked on a project with the World Health Organisation (WHO). The experience of the pandemic has triple-underscored a lesson we all know too well: the communication of science is critical to success in targeting health issues. The WHO has laid plans to improve science communication with a manual targeting a range of actors.

Meet the Members

Senne Starckx |

The logo for the SPARK Grant Initiative is centered on a dark, circular background. The word "SPARK" is written in a large, white, sans-serif font, with the letter "K" highlighted in a bright yellow color. Below "SPARK", the words "GRANT INITIATIVE" are written in a smaller, white, sans-serif font.

SPARK

GRANT INITIATIVE

French-speaking science journalists converge to Senegal for the first international conference

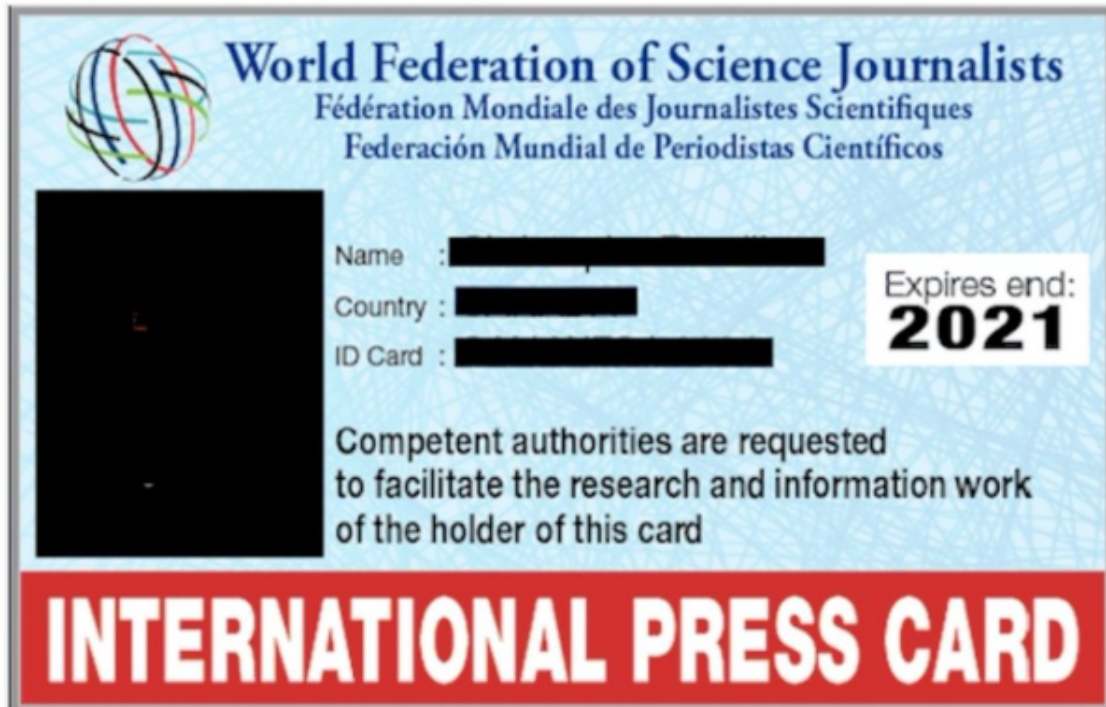

The conference attracted 57 science journalists from 21 countries. For 5 days, we discussed science journalism, we shared best practices with great enthusiasm, we shared our ideas, our similar questions and our very different realities.

SubscribePast IssuesTranslate ▼

Meet the Members

Daniel Duarte |

Coming soon!

WFSJ International Press Card Directory

This new resource has been created in collaboration with the developer of the WFSJ Web site, with the protection of members' privacy as a fundamental priority. In this way, science journalists from around the world will have the option to identify themselves and each other in a safe, secure setting. In addition, the WFSJ will be able to provide these members with additional services, such as exclusive access to publishers or research organizations for job opportunities or detailed information that would not otherwise be available on-line.

Subscribe

Past Issues

Translate ▼

Donate

Copyright © 2022 WFSJ, All rights reserved.

Want to change how you receive these emails?
You can update your preferences or unsubscribe from this list.